

A scatter plot showing the distribution of points colored by density. The points are concentrated in several clusters, with colors ranging from blue (low density) to yellow (high density). The overall shape of the distribution is irregular and elongated.